RAFT (Relative, Adoptive, Foster Parent Training) is a training developed by the New Mexico Children, Youth and Families Department for prospective foster and adoptive parents. It was designed to help meet the training needs of foster and adoptive parents as you prepare to welcome a child into your home. RAFT is a blended learning experience, a course with two face-to-face classroom sessions and in between the two scheduled dates are four web-based sessions.

Child care IS NOT provided; therefore, please make arrangements as needed.
